Tilly and the Wall

Tilly and the Wall's childlike exuberance has truly been captured in the new video for "Alligator Skin," an upbeat track off the band's recently released album, O. With more neon colors than the Vegas strip, clowns, furry animal costumes, bouncing balloons, and flowing confetti, the set looks as if a party store exploded.

What's more, you can catch Tilly and the Wall's live set this fall when the quintet hit the road with dance rock spark-plugs CSS. Both bands are encouraging fans to tape each concert for an upcoming documentary project. Details can be found here. Now channel your inner youngster and join the festivities in the "Alligator Skin" video below.
